CALENDAR OF THE WEEK

National—Monday and Tuesday, Miss Shreve's May Carnival. Columbia—The Charity Ball. Polli's—The Littlest Rebel. B. F. Keith's—High-class Vaudeville. Gayety—Harry Hastings' Big Show Company. Cosmos—Vaudeville. Casino—Vaudeville.

The Week's Amusements.

Miss Shreve's May Carnival.

After months spent in the patient rehearsal of more than a hundred of Washington's representative children for her May carnival of dancing, everything is now in readiness for Miss Cora B. Shreve's presentation of "The Fountain of Youth," an elaborate electric spectacle, at the New National Theater, for two consecutive evenings, beginning tomorrow.

"The Fountain of Youth," which furnishes the theme of the terpsichorean entertainment, is an elaborate electric spectacle resending a fountain of real water which dances over hundreds of colored lights, and from which Miss Adeline Shreve, as a dancing princess, is followed by twenty exquisite little cupids, led by little Miss Marian Friable.

The second part of the program of beautiful dance specialties is set in Spanish cabaret, which furnishes a brilliant background for "At the Gay Shore," a specialty to be danced by a bevy of little tots whose ages range from two to five years; "Recipe of Love," a double sextet, and all the latest stage steps.

Miss Shreve's May carnival has been an event of tremendous local interest for fifteen years, not only because it demonstrates the ability of the most beautiful and gifted children in Washington, but because it is an occasion of artistic merit as well.

"The Fountain of Youth" is Miss Shreve's own conception, and is by far the most ambitious spectacle which she has ever undertaken in this city, giving ample opportunity to the most gifted members of her large class for many beautiful and intricate dance specialties, as well as for some of the most pronounced song hits of the present season.

The principal participants in the feat will be Misses Adeline Shreve, Marian Friable, Mary Eaton, Margaret Kirby, Beatrice Cosgrove, Estelle Murray, Sadie Lipp, Genevieve Pryle, Margaret Huss, Edith Shreve, Helene Terjeska, Messrs. William P. Stack and G. W. Burr, Master William Sacks, Master Jack Dudley, and scores of others.

The curtain will be raised tomorrow evening promptly at 8 o'clock.

Columbia—The Charity Ball.

With luxurious stage settings and magnificent costumes the Columbia Players will tomorrow evening revive David Belasco and Henry C. DeMille's greatest success, "The Charity Ball," at the Columbia Theater. Produced many years ago by Daniel Frohman with his New York Lyceum Theater company, the piece then, and ever since, has exercised a great hold upon the hearts of strings of the American public because the beautiful sentiment controlling the story is too impelling to allow interest to wane.

"The Charity Ball" has not been seen in Washington for many years, and its revival at this time will be a special delight to those who support the better class of drama. It is a comedy drama in four acts, one of the scenes being the foyer of the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. Both Earl Brown and Violet Heming will have excellent parts in those of John Van Buren and Ann Cruger, respectively. Carrie Thatcher will be seen as Phyllis Lee, Julia Blane as Mrs. DeVere, Jessie Glendinning as Bess Van Buren, Marie Dornbach as Mrs. Van Buren, Beattie Maxwell as Sophie, George Marshall as Jasper, Edna Kronts as Cain, David Chase as Mr. Crutcher, George Carroll as Mr. Betts, John M. Klein as Franklin Cruger, Everett Butterfield as Alec Robinson, George W. Barber as Judge Peter Guerny Knox, and Willard Robertson as Dick Van Buren. The production is specially painted for the production by Charles Squires and his assistants.

Polli's—The Littlest Rebel.

Edward Peple's appealing romance of civil war days in Virginia, "The Littlest Rebel," will be revived this week by the Polli Players. Because of the fact that the central figure of the story, Virgie Carey, "the littlest rebel," is a tiny, barefooted Virginia girl, it is a story which has to have specially engaged actresses for this role. Consequently the Polli management has engaged for one week Grace Shanley, the talented child actress who played the role of the number one heroine, Miss Shanley, in the character when the play was presented in Washington for the first time two years ago. "The Littlest Rebel" is one of the most recent and successful plays staged. Although its heroine and many of its important characters are Virginians, the play may be described as non-partisan. And one of the most lovable figures in the story is a lieutenant in the Northern cavalry who risks his life and his honor to save "the littlest rebel" from a perilous position between the Northern and Southern lines, and protect her father from the death of a duel.

The play will give members of the Polli cast particularly effective roles. Five of the characters in the story are of paramount importance. One of the most interesting of them, of course, is that of Virgie Carey, "the littlest rebel," which will be interpreted by Grace Shanley. Richard Buhler will be seen in the role of Wescot, Col. Morrison, U. S. A., the part played in the play by William D. Farnum; William D. Corbett will have the role of Capt. Herbert Carey, the father of "the littlest rebel," and the character originally played by William Farnum. Miss Jeanie Wilson, the wife of Mr. Carey, the young wife of the Confederate scout, and the role created by Miss Percy Haswell when the play was produced in Chicago three years ago. Cecil Bower will be called upon to give an impersonation of Gen. Grant, who figures in the last act of the drama.

B. F. Keith's—High-class Vaudeville.

"The Bride Shop," a musical comedy produced by B. A. Rolfe, will be given its Washington premiere at the B. F. Keith Theater this week. The book is by Fred De Gressan, the music by Rolfe, the lyrics by McKenna, and Robert Marks staged. An augmented orchestra is led by Ward Johnstone. Featured in the cast is Andrew Tombe, supported by Fred Wentworth, Basil Lynn, and a galaxy of troupeau girls. The extra added attraction is Nellie V. Nichols, the comic songstress. The Alexander "Kids" are also given headline prominence in the formation of the bill's features. Another addition will be Mr. and Mrs. Erwin J. Connelly in Sir W. S. Gilbert's idyllic comedy, "Sweethearts," originally performed in the Prince of Wales Theater, London. Other offerings will be W. S. ("Robt") Dickinson as "The ex-Justice of the Peace," Lane and O'Donnell as "The Lunatic Tumblers," Ernie and Ernie in "The Monopole and Miss Mary Genan Field," Morphy and "Dot," the Hearst-Big photographic of current events, the pipe organ recitals, and the dances after the weekly performances.

There will be the usual concert today, at which the attractions will include Miss Dinkie and company, Tony Hunting and Corinne Francis, Miss Maria Lyle, Marcelina, Ismed Bey, John T. Murray, Hopkins, Axtell and company, Varnie Kaufman, and the Hearst-Big motion picture review.

Gayety—Harry Hastings' Big Show Company.

Harry Lester Mason and Tom Coyne are featured as the leading comedians in "Dinkie's Daughters," the two-act musical burlesque entertainment which serves as a vehicle for Harry Hastings' Big Show Company, appearing at the Gayety this week.

The books and lyrics are by Charles Horwitz, with dancing numbers by Julian Alfred and music by Joe Nathan. Several unique musical numbers are said to be the delight of tangoists. "The Ghost of Annie Laurie," sung by Violet Pearl and chorus of thirty, is one of these specialties.

Mason as Dinkie, and Coyne as Moran, a New York politician, furnish most of the humor of the piece. Dinkie, the proprietor of a bath house, rich and ambitious, has aspirations for his two daughters, Hope and Charity, played by Ollie Oden and Genevieve Adams, respectively. But although all of the undesirable fortune hunters have to be kept from Hope by force, there is not even an undesirable who is willing to marry Charity, lean of figure and very uncertain of age.

Billy Meehan is seen in the role of Charley Hudson, one of the admirers of Hope. Other members of the cast of principals are Russell Hill, Frank Martin, and Mabel Leslie.

The usual weekly country store additional feature will be given on Friday night.

Cosmos—Vaudeville.

"A Night at the Bath," presented by Joe Maxwell's company of comedians, will be the headline offering for anniversary week at the Cosmos, commencing with the matinee tomorrow afternoon. It is a novelty blending sentiment, comedy and nonsense, with song, and is marked by eight clever characterizations. "At Independence Hall," said to be one of the funniest laughologues of the season, will be the offering of Carstairs and Willis.

A third feature will be the Aerial Prices in aerial exhibitions, with a startling climax. The dramatic number will be furnished by Matthew and company in "The Hoodoo," and Roy and Arthur, formerly Bedini and Arthur, will give an exhibition of comedy juggling.

The "Weekly Pictures," showing big events of recent happenings, will have its contribution of Mexican war pictures, and a series of selected photoplays will add to the entertainment. Whenever the Nationals play, the features of the game, whether at home or away, will be reproduced in detail by the new Cosmos scoreboard after the second matinee, at 4:15 o'clock.

The "Meditation" from "Thalia," by Massenet; value hesitation, "Noble," by Lesser; Drigo's Serenade from "Les Millions d'Arlequin," Adams' overture "If I Were King," and "Ludens," the Burgomaster, will be special numbers of the orchestral program to be offered today at the Cosmos under the direction of Arthur Manvell, with the features of last week's bill and added specialties.

Casino—Vaudeville.

Frank Rolfe's frolic of revelry and song, with added terpsichorean features, "Vacation Days," will be the musical headline number at the Casino this week. It is a blended offering of songs, dances, and light comedy of the delicate kind, by a company of nine performers. Another special feature will be Miss Sigma, "the Grand French Girl," in character monologue and song changes. Grif and Ernest will bring a sketch of light comedy entitled, "His Wife's Sweetheart," with its sentimental trend. O'Brien and Lear will be heard for offering of new songs, repartee, and dances, and Ed. Estus for an exhibition of equilibrium and body balancing. The added night attractions this week include the surprise party Monologues, the dancing contests Thursday and Friday, the dancing contests Thursday and the amateurs Friday. At each performance special film features will be shown.

Today, from 3 to 3:30 p. m. the Sunday concert will feature an exceptional orchestral program of high-class selections, with the attractions of last week's bill and added specialties.

Virginia—Feature Films.

"Zingo's War in the Clouds" at the Virginia Theater today, is a film full of surprises. In the actual battle scene twenty-four airships are in action. Monday and Tuesday, Laura Sawyer will have the role of the heroine in a detective drama filled with the mystery of the sea; Wednesday, "Zingo and the White Elephant"; Thursday, "The Bogus Billionaire," and Friday and Saturday, Cyril Scott in "Day of Days," will be the special features.

Coming Attractions.

Aborn Opera Company.

The Aborn English Grand Opera Company, after an absence of a year, will return next week for a spring season of a month or more at the New National Theater.

For the weeks so far planned for the Washington engagement the Aborn management has selected Verdi's "Il Trovatore," Puccini's "Madam Butterfly," "The Barber of Seville," Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffmann," Puccini's "La Boheme," Puccini's "Tosca," Gounod's "Faust," Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor," Verdi's "Rigoletto," Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana," and Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel," to be given in a half-week each. The matinee days will be Wednesday and Saturday, as in former seasons.

By the well-known and highly approved system of exchanging principal artists between their various companies, which the Aborn management have always followed during their annual spring seasons, Washington opera goes will see and hear from forty to fifty different artists in leading roles during the engagement, instead of having one established set of principals remaining throughout the four or five weeks. This constantly changing array of favorites is accomplished by exchanging leading artists between this and other Aborn companies presenting their spring season at the same time in Brooklyn, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, and Baltimore. Among those scheduled for the casts of the earlier presentations are Miss Marion, Gladys Chandler, Eileen Caudle, Phoebe Crosby, Florence Coughland, Edith Helena, Alida Hemmi, Elena Kirn, Louis Kreidler, James Stevens, Jerome Shalk, Helen Seloe, Edith Alvord, Elaine De Sellem, Zoe Fulton, Jayne Herbert, Louise Hausman, Louise Le Baron, Lillian Robinson, Albert Amadi, Giuseppe Agostini, Elbert K.
